VOL. XVIII.] THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1818. [No. 5118.

For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS
is recommended
HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

|---|---|
| Nervous Disorders | Violent cramps in the stomach and back |
| Consumptions | Indigestion |
| Lowness of spirits | Melancholy |
| Loss of appetite | Gout in the stomach |
| Impurity of b'ood | Pains in the limbs |
| Hysteric'l affection | Relaxations, etc. |
| Inward weaknesses and debility | |

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

☞ At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, living near Middleburg, Loudoun county, on the night of the 24th inst. a BRIGHT MULATTO GIRL, nearly white, about 15 or 16 years of age. She is of a very low stature, and very fat; her eyes small and of a hazle color; her hair brown and long; her skin, from great attention, would pass for that of a white person, particularly her hands, which she has preserved from roughness with great care. She carried away many valuable articles, besides her own clothing, (which was costly) such as fine linen shifts, marked with her mistress' name, a costly ring of pearl, several pair of new stockings, muslin habits, &c. Among her own wardrobe was a scarlet stuff dress, which she frequently appeared in when she visited in the neighborhood, with a new straw bonnet, dressed with pink satin ribband, and a tortoise shell comb in her hair.
I will give the above reward of $100 for apprehending this girl, and securing her in any gaol so that I get her again.
EDMD. BROOK.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from Peter Graham, living near Middleburg, Loudoun county, Va. on the night of the 25th of March last, a very likely Negro girl, named ANN, purchased of Wm. Noland, living at Aldie, Loudoun county, whose family she was raised in. She is of a yellow complexion, round faced, thick lips, with large staring eyes, and rather delicate featured for a slave;—small feet, a tolerable ready speech and mild with it; about 18 years of age, middle size, and very well made; rather thick, about 5 feet high from appearance. She had on when she went away a dress of coating cloth, made in a coat and jacket, with skirts of a brown snuff color. I have reason to believe she is in or near Philadelphia or New-York. I will give fifty dollars reward if taken in Fauquier, Loudoun, Prince William, or Fairfax counties, or the District of Columbia, if taken in any other county or state, and secured in any jail, so that I obtain information and get her, I will give one hundred dollars, and all reasonable charges paid in either case, if brought home.

ROYAL-STREET.

Daily Gazette $7...Country Gazette $5.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1818.

Captain Bartlett, of the schooner Ellen, arrived at this port yesterday, in 57 days from Havre de-Grace, has favored the editor of the Gazette with the following Regulations necessary to be observed at that place during the existence of the quarantine, and to which all vessels arriving from America are subjected, in conformity to the orders of the Minister of the Interior.

ART. 1st. The quarantine on vessels coming from Guadaloupe, the Havannah, Charleston, Savannah, Baltimore, or from any other ports or islands where the Yellow Fever exists, shall be thirty days.

ART. 2d. Vessels arriving from all other ports of America shall be subjected to a quarantine of fifteen days, if the cargo consists of articles not susceptible of infection; but if of such articles, the quarantine shall be twenty-five days.

ART. 3d. The quarantine on all vessels coming from America, having or having had during the voyage, any sickness or mortality, shall be sixty days; if there is any person sick on board, the quarantine shall commence from the day that the person last sick shall become convalescent.

Havre, 4th November, 1817.

Received from R. G. Beasley, Esq. consul of the U. States, at Havre.

J. BARTLET, Jr.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON.

Wednesday, January 7, 1818.

The house of representatives, in a committee of the whole, (Mr. S. Smith in the chair) was employed all yesterday upon the new compensation bill. The select committee who constructed the bill, had sent it to the house, not, as usual, with blanks to be filled up by a committee of the whole, but with the sum of NINE dollars specifically set down as the daily compensation, and NINE dollars for every twenty miles travelling to congress, and back again. When the chairman put the question on the first section, Mr. Ross moved to amend the bill by striking out the word NINE, and substituting SIX in its place. This motion was seconded by Mr. Desha, who made a speech on the occasion; in which, after premising that he did not expect to change the minds of gentlemen, but that he, nevertheless, owed it to himself to give his reasons for voting for the amendment, he said he regretted that the committee had not left blanks, in the customary way, for the several sums; which would have better comported with the dignity of the house than the course they had taken; but when he considered who the persons were that composed the committee—[here he was called to order by the chairman]—that they were chiefly lawyers, and therefore fond of high fees—[again he was called to order, and stopping for a moment, proceeded to ask the house whether they had already forgotten the violent agitation of the public mind on a former occasion touching this very subject?]—and he urged the expediency of paying due attention at this time to the manifest feelings of the public; declaring that for his part he would oppose the compensation proposed by the bill, as extravagant, even though he should stand alone. He denied what had so often been asserted, that members of congress were worse paid than any other officers of government; for he would maintain that the officers of both the civil and military establishments were much more poorly remunerated. As to the plea that money had fallen in value, he charged congress with having been themselves in the fault of that, by chartering so many banks, and said that therefore they ought to bear their share of the evil arising out of it. To another defence that had been urged on this subject, viz. that there would be a want of talents in congress, if they did not bid higher for them, he answered, that he thought the country would be at least as well served by men of plain common sense as by great orators—for he very much preferred, as legislators, men of solid reason and sound judgment, to such as he had seen enough of in that house, who could only cull rhetorical flowers and make speeches. What (he demanded) must the industrious, frugal, hard working farmers think of paying nine dollars a day for the support of a single representative? Mr. Desha seemed as if he had observed, or thought that he observed in the house around him, symptoms of disapprobation and impatience; and he openly expressed his chagrin at it; seeming to think that their coughing, which was, I imagine, purely accidental, was intended as personal unkindness to him—and he, above all, lamented and deprecated the house's betraying such an anxiety about their own pecuniary emolument, in a case in which they ought to be actuated solely by pure patriotism.

Mr. Clay said that in selecting the committee, he had been guided by two principles—one, that a majority of it should be taken from the new members who had been elected under the influence of the prevailing popular disapprobation of the annual compensation law—the second, that the committee should be selected from different parts of the union, so as to bring a more extensive range of influence into its deliberations. As to the objections raised by his honorable colleague against the committee on a professional account, it was a conception for which he was unable to account—for HE certainly had not regarded them with a view to any such consideration; and he solemnly declared that at the time of his selection of them, he was entirely ignorant of their intentions. He only understood that there prevailed amongst them, every diversity of opinion respecting the sum, from six up to ten dollars: and as it was clear that every member in the house must have long since made up his mind on the subject, he could not perceive how the objections made by his honorable colleague could apply. At the same time, he should deeply regret it, if, as that honorable gentleman seemed to think, any obstruction were attempted to be thrown in the way of his exercising the right, which he indubitably possessed, of freely delivering his sentiments in that house.

Mr. Ogle avowed that he entirely differed from Mr. Desha. He said he considered himself as no way wanting in patriotism such as he ought and it was natural for him to feel; but he did not think that patriotism necessarily consisted in individuals making disproportionate sacrifices of their domestic duties and family's substance for every other person.—He lived in a great farming country, and amongst farmers, and knew tolerably well how that class of people would feel and be affected by this business, and what they thought about it; and he would say that it was their opinion, as it certainly was his own, and must be that of every man of common sense, that he who had a farm to mind, had little time to throw away upon what was called patriotism, and could not be expected to consume his time or to neglect his concerns, much less ought he to waste the substance and means of his family, or run the risk of bringing his children to beggary and want, by working without an adequate compensation. He, for one, would not do it. And as to what had been thrown out about talents, he believed it would be hard to determine right of members to compensation by such an equivocal test. It would not be easy to trepan them and weigh their brains; and if it could be accomplished, he dared to say that some would be entitled to but small compensation. His own would probably be as little as any ones. As that, however, could not be done, they must all be content to share alike; and all ought to receive a reasonable compensation not only for their labor, but for the loss their families and concerns would sustain at home, while they were employed in watching over the public business. Nine dollars a day he considered as a very small compensation. And he affirmed that, living as he did amongst farmers, he never heard one of them say that ten dollars a day was too much. As to coming to Congress to serve out of pure patriotism, he doubted whether, if that were to be the only compensation, there would be many desirous to be elected. He thought that the very best way for a member of Congress to show his patriotism was to vote independently, without any view to popular favor. He had not sought a seat in Congress—it was given to him. He received no instructions, and if he had, he would still act as his judgment and conscience directed.

The amendment proposed by Mr. Ross was negatived.

The committee rose, the bill was reported to the house, and the question being put on its concurrence, an amendment was proposed by Mr. Parris to strike out nine and insert six; on which Gen. Harrison said though he thought nine dollars little enough, yet as there were other claimants whom it was the duty of the house, holding as it did the keys of the treasury, to satisfy, before they helped themselves, he would vote for the amendment. When justice should be done to the widows and orphans of the brave officers and soldiers of the revolutionary war, then—and not till then would he vote for nine dollars a day.

Mr. Ogle said if it were necessary he would divide this compensation with the soldiers' widows and orphans—but he knew that the country was able and willing and bound to pay both, and he could not see any reason why it should not do so. After various attempts to amend and motions with various success, the discussions gradually melted down into a result bearing something the air of a compromise, by which eight dollars a day and eight dollars for travelling expences for every twenty miles were voted, and the bill was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time the next day.

London, November 6.

DEATH OF THE PRINCESS CHARLOTTE, AFTER THE BIRTH OF A SON STILL-BORN.

With feelings the most painful we perform a sad, a melancholy duty to the public, (so unlike what we anticipated from the accounts received yesterday morning) in announcing the death of this amiable and beloved Princess, who expired in a few hours after being delivered of a still-born male child!! Thus have the hopes, the fond anticipations of the British people been dashed to the earth; & instead of hailing the infant as their future sovereign, they have to mourn the loss of a Princess whom to know was to admire, and who had endeared herself to all ranks and classes of society. The following letter gives an account of the melancholy event, with some preliminary details:

"Claremont, six o'clock, Thursday morning.—I had hoped to have sent you very, very different tidings; and yesterday, when I despatched my last letter to you, I felt confident that my next would have announced the consummation of our wishes, in the birth of a future heir or heiress. That next!!——However, I will endeavor to write all I have heard, as well as the general grief and consternation will allow me. On Monday in the night, or about three on Tuesday morning, her Royal Highness was taken ill, and expresses were sent off to the great officers of state, the archbishop of Canterbury, and the bishop of London, desiring their immediate attendance.—Earl Bathurst, Lord Sidmouth, the Ld. Chancellor, Mr. Vansittart, together with the Archbishop and Bishop, immediately attended. Dr. Baillie and Dr. Croft were the medical attendants. During the whole of Tuesday the labor advanced slowly, but without the least appearance of danger. The Princess Charlotte showed uncommon firmness and the utmost resignation. Towards evening, as the labor still lingered, it was deemed advisable to send for Doctor Simms, who arrived in the middle of the night. Nothing could be going on better, though too slowly. And the excellent constitution of the Princess gave every assurance that she would not be too much exhausted by the delay. No language, no panegyric can be too warm for the manner in which the Prince Leopold conducted himself. He was incessant in his attendance, and no countenance could more deeply express the anxiety he felt. Once or twice he exclaimed to the medical attendants "that the unrepining, patient endurance of the Princess, while it gave him comfort, communicated also deep affliction at her sufferings being so lengthened."

"About 6 o'clock yesterday the labor advanced more rapidly, and no apprehensions were entertained of any fatal result, and the child was ascertained to be still living. At 9 o'clock her Royal Highness was delivered of a male child, but still-born. Throughout the whole of this long and painful labor, her Royal Highness evinced the greatest firmness, and received the communication of the child being dead-born with the greatest resignation. Prince Leopold exclaimed to the medical attendants, as soon as the intelligence was communicated to him, "Thank God! Thank God! the Princess is safe." The child was perfect, and one of the finest infants ever brought into the world. The Princess was composed after her delivery, and though of course much exhausted, every hope was entertained of her doing well. This pleasing intelligence being communicated to the great officers of state, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Bishop of London, they left Claremont about 11 o'clock; the medical attendants of course remaining. A little after 12, a change was observed in her Royal Highness—her quiet left her—she became restless and uneasy—and the medical attendants felt alarmed. Expresses were sent off; I believe, to the officers of state, stating the change that had taken place. From half past 12 restleness and convulsion encreased, till nature and life were quite exhausted, and her Royal Highness expired at half past two this morning. Prince Leopold was with her Royal Highness at this agonizing moment."

From another letter from Claremont, we extract the following additional particulars—"Her Royal Highness after her delivery, had expressed herself resigned to the child being dead, most piously observing that it was the will of God. She continued remarkably well from 9 o'clock (the time of her delivery) till past twelve o'clock, when the medical gentlemen, Drs. Baillie, Croft, and Simms, considering that she could not be doing better under the circumstances, retired to rest.—Her Royal Highness took some gruel, which she expressed herself to find a difficulty in swallowing. She afterwards complained of being very chilly, and a violent pain at her stomach. The nurse, Mrs. Griffiths, considering her Royal Highness's complaints to require the advice of the medical gentlemen in attendance, the doctors were all instantly called up. They lost no time in giving their attendance, but human assistance was of no avail. Her Royal Highness's attack continued unabated, and she expired, from the best information that can be procured at present, about half past two o'clock, in a severe attack of spasms."

As soon as the fatal event had been conveyed to his majesty's ministers, they hastened to town, where they arrived about half past five. Lord Sidmouth immediately despatched the following letter to the Lord Mayor:—

"Whitehal, Nov. 6, six, A. M.

"MY LORD—It is with the deepest sorrow that I inform your lordship, that her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte expired this morning at half past 2 o'clock.—I have the honor to be, &c.

(Signed) "SIDMOUTH.

"The Right Hon. the Lord Mayor."

The great bell at St. Paul's was ordered to be tolled—an order which it is the office of the lord mayor to give. It tolled from twelve o'clock this day to one.

Lord Sidmouth sent also to the different theatres, commanding them to be shut; and the following Extraordinary Gazette was published about one o'clock.

London Gazette Extraordinary, Thursday, November 6.

Her Royal Highness the Princess Charlotte Augusta, daughter of his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, and consort of his Serene Highness the Prince Leopold of Saxe Cobourg, was delivered of a still-born male child, at 9 o'clock last night, and about half past 12 her Royal Highness was seized with great difficulty of breathing, restlessness, and exhaustion, which alarming symptoms increased till half past two o'clock this morning, when her Royal Highness expired, to the inexpressible grief of his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, of her illustrious consort, the Prince Leopold, and of all the royal family.

His Royal Highness the Prince Regent had been for a week or ten days past in Suffolk. As soon as the illness of the Princess Charlotte was pronounced, an express was sent to apprize his Royal Highness, who immediately, with all a parent's affection and anxiety, returned to town on his way to Claremont. His Royal Highness on his journey to town stopped two messengers on the road with dispatches to him. They announced the slow progress of the labor; but added, that no danger was apprehended. A third messenger with the account of the delivery of a still-born child passed him in the night. His Royal Highness arrived at Carlton House about 4 o'clock in the morning, with the intention of proceeding, without alighting, to Claremont, when the Duke of York and one of the ministers arrived with the fatal intelligence, which has blasted his and the nation's hope, and involved the whole British family, from its most exalted to its humblest members, in the deepest affliction.

In what way his Royal Highness received the dreadful tidings, can only be conceived by those who have known what it is to lose an only daughter and child in the bloom of youth and health. Equally impossible would it be to describe the grief of Prince Leopold.

Liverpool, Nov. 8.

The greater part of the Foreign Journals of the week are as uninteresting as usual, but the last private communications from Paris, contain the substance of a note or rescript, said to have been presented to the Ministers of the Great Allied Powers by the Duc de Richelieu, which is of considerable importance, as far as respects the future tranquility of France. A very large part, it appears, of the regular revenue of the country had been set apart for the liquidation of its debts, national and individual, in the treaty of 1815. These claims arose partly from the pecuniary compensations exacted by the Allies, as the result of their conquest, and the price of their forbearance; and partly from the debts, contracted by the French Government and the French People, previous to that period. The facility with which the new Government of France was compelled to yield to these demands, has brought on such an immense number of additional claimants, as to threaten to overwhelm the financial resources even of that opulent country. The Ministers of Louis XVIII. feel themselves, therefore, at least obliged to make a stand. They see that Foreign Governments, as well as individuals, are seeking to take advantage of the helpless condition of their country, to bring forward demands which had before been considered as hopeless. On this conviction, they have presented a remonstrance to the ministers of the Great Allied Powers, stating the immense pecuniary efforts which France has already made, and the impossibility of fulfilling the additional demands now made upon her, without the evident danger of risking the security of the Government, and the tranquility of the country.

The provincial papers in almost all the commercial or manufacturing districts of England and Scotland, contain very gratifying accounts of the revival of business in almost every department. It is now admitted on all hands, that the prospects as well as the condition of the country, are in a state of considerable improvement.—In every quarter from the north to the south, the language of depression and despondency is giving place to hope and encouragement. From Cornwall, we are informed, that the copper mines are in full activity, and that even new metalic treasures have been lately discovered; but the tin mines are still in a state of depression. Of the great broad cloth manufactory in the west of England, we have lately heard but little, and we are afraid, therefore, that the revival of that important staple has scarcely yet commenced. We have heard, indeed, that the fine cloths of France are very generally preferred abroad, both in respect to quality and price.—Throughout all the extensive districts of the Iron workers, the accounts are every where favorable; almost every furnace is at work, and few hands are unemployed. The advices are not quite so encouraging from the Staffordshire potteries, but they are nevertheless in a state of recovery. In all the great seats of the cotton, and woollen manufactories, both in Scotland, Yorkshire, Lancashire, and Nottinghamshire, trade is reviving, and consequently employment is increasing; though the distress amongst the lower classes is very far from being entirely removed, or even effectually alleviated. The same remark will apply to the great hardware manufactories of Birmingham and Sheffield.

On the whole it is sufficiently manifest, that the general appearance of our vast manufacturing and commercial system is very far from discouraging, and if it were not for the fearful burthen of our national debt, and the enormous pressure of taxation which necessarily follows it, and which render an excessive and uninterrupted commerce, indispensable to the existence of our public credit, we might confidently affirm that we have already enough of trade for the interests of our national welfare, and perhaps too much for the interests of individual virtue and happiness.

Wonderful Rapidity of Navigation. Letters were written to New-York, by the ship Lancaster, which left this port on the 10th September last. To these letters answers were received here on the 5th November inst. by the Ship Ann Maria, Captain White; the whole period being only 55 days for two voyages across the Atlantic; and the latter vessel having performed the voyage in sixteen days; being probably the quickest passage ever made.

The quantity of cotton imported into Liverpool during the last week, amounted to nearly 28,000 bags.

The weather during the present week has been uncommonly warm for the season, the thermometer having frequently exceeded 61 in the shade. We are afraid that this unseasonable warmth will not tend to diminish the contagious fever which, we are sorry to state, still prevails in this town to a great extent.

Fire in Sparkling street.—We have the melancholly task of stating that a very rapid and destructive fire, broke out on Thursday morning about nine o'clock in the Warehouse of Mr. Oglethorp, and other persons in Wapping, at the south east corner of Lower Sparkling street. It is supposed to have begun in the spirit vaults, and to have communicated instantaneously, by means of the upright staircase, to the higher parts of the building, which was wholly consumed in less than two hours, notwithstanding the exertions of the engines which arrived in excellent order, soon after the discovery of the fire. The upper rooms were quite filled with grain, which we regret to say was entirely consumed.

The New-York papers of the 10th October, mention the safe arrival of Mr. Incledon, in the ship John and Edward, from this port.

The distressing loss of the William & Mary Packet, which took place on the night of 26th of October, in the British Channel, is attributed by the survivors to the Mate of the vessel, who, instead of keeping the helm, was imprudently romping and playing with a girl, leaving the steerage to a man who appeared a stranger to that perilous coast. When the vessel struck upon the Wolves, the captain springing upon deck, exclaimed with an oath to the Mate, "John you have lost the lives of all on board—I never could trust you—Had I a sword, I would run you through." The following is a list of the cabin passengers—Saved—Lieutenant Thebalier, Mr. Shortis, and the Reverend Mr. Giles. Lost—Mr. Thebalier, Mr. and Mrs. Barron, and four sisters, Mrs. Sandys, her daughter and niece, (Miss Burroughs) Mrs. Clift, and Mr. Wright.

Circular instructions have been sent from the Tax Office to every district, for the burning or effectually destroying all the books and papers, relating to the Property Tax.

THEATRE.

Mr. Hayes' Benefit.—I do not remember the time when the lover of the drama ever had so fair an opportunity of gratifying his desires, as that offered at the Theatre this evening. Morton's comedy of A Cure for the Heart-Ache—the very popular comic sketch of Monsieur Tonson—a Dwarf Dance, in character—and Shakespeare's farce of Catherine & Petrucio.—Truly, 'tis a feast for the most fastidious epicure!! The comedy was twice performed here last spring by the Thespian Society; and as Mr. Hayes' motive in selecting it at this time, has doubtless been to point out, by a striking comparison, the difference between the amateur attempts of a company of amateurs and the histrionic skill of a regular corps of players, I trust it will be justly appreciated and substantially rewarded.

WILL open an Academy at Dumfries the 1st Monday of January, where he will teach the Greek, Latin, and English languages, scientifically and grammatically, Geography, the use of Maps and Globes, History, antient and modern, Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, Algebra, Euclid's Elements, and other branches of Mathematics. The scanning of the above languages will be particularly attended to. His knowledge of the academic and collegiate course will, he hopes, insure to him the patronage and support of a liberal and discerning public. He will watch with solicitous care over the conduct of his pupils—that whilst he instils into their infant minds the principles of human science, they may not forget those of a far greater importance—their respective duties to God and man—which will cause them to rank high in society—its ornament—its support. Parents and guardians will, he presumes, enter their names immediately. For further particulars apply to Dr. J. Spence, capt. M'Crea, Mr. D. Boyle.

To the Flour and Rice Millers OF THE UNITED STATES.

GENTLEMEN,—It appears that many have refused to pay for license to use my improvements in the art of manufacturing flour, and in lessening the labor in rice mills, waiting the decision of the United States' courts; while many others have paid freely the sums I demanded for my license; there can exist no reason why some should pay and others be exempt. There has already been a sufficient number of decisions establishing the law, that each infringer is liable to pay treble my actual damages, which cannot be rated at less than the value of the use of my property during the infringement. I have expended the greatest part of a long, arduous, and indefatigable life in study and exertions to invent and introduce into useful operation several important and highly useful improvements, from which great benefits are derived to the users, and I could have put in operation many more equally useful, but was prevented by the unjustifiable opposition, wasting the profits of those in operation, which I had intended to apply to put others in operation which I had discovered; but which now lay dormant, to my great mortification and the public injury. I come into the courts claiming remuneration for my time and labor—the great expenses that I have incurred in advertising repeatedly over the United States, and in my agents travelling for many years to make the utility of the improvements known, and to instruct millwrights to make, and millers to use them. The law contemplates that I shall receive ample remuneration, and by it I was encouraged to risk the great expenses. I have repeatedly published that the price of my license for the remainder of the term should be, the full price of the labor and boarding saved by the use of my improvements in one year only, with lawful interest until paid; but to those who infringed my rights, and refused to pay when called on, I would, beginning with the year ending January 22, 1813, count the sum saved in labor and boarding during the last year (equal to the first price) as a new sum becoming due, and running on interest also; and so on, the 22d day of January in each and every year thereafter a new sum saved in labor and boarding becomes due, and runs on interest until license be purchased, demanding the interest only on all these sums, leaving the principal in the hands of the users; which is the least I can receive of them to meet the expenses which they have compelled me to incur. The above are now the only terms on which my agents are instructed to grant licenses, and they are instructed to institute suits against all infringers without giving them another call.

Those who wish to purchase licenses may apply to John Love, esq. Buckland, Prince William county, or to capt. John Moody, Richmond, Va.

OLIVER EVANS.

NOTE.—Persons using Mr. Evans' improvements, or parts of them, unpaid for, will be sued if they do not discharge the claim on application. Mr. William H. Alexander has, under my authority from Mr. Evans, been empowered to receive payments and deliver licenses to use his improvements. Payments, therefore, made to him, John Moody, or myself, will alone be valid, and save the expense of suit and treble damages to the defendants. JOHN LOVE.

CHARLES COUNTY COURT } August Term 1817. }

ON application to Charles county court by petition in writing of Williamson Cox, of Charles county, for the benefit of the act of assembly for the relief of sundry insolvent debtors, passed at November session 1805, and the several supplements thereto, on the terms mentioned therein, a schedule of his property and a list of his creditors on oath, so far as he can ascertain them, being annexed to his petition, and the court being satisfied by competent testimony that the said Williamson Cox has resided two years immediately preceding the time of his application in the state of Maryland, and being also satisfied that the said Williamson Cox is in actual confinement for debt, and the said Williamson Cox having entered into bond with sufficient security for his personal appearance in Charles county court, to answer such allegations as his creditors may make against him—It is therefore ordered and adjudged that the said Williamson Cox be discharged from imprisonment—and that by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some one of the newspapers edited in the district of Columbia once a week for two months successively before the third Monday of March next, he give notice to his creditors to appear before the said court, at Charles-Town in said county, on the said third Monday of March next, for the purpose of recommending a trustee for their benefit, and to shew cause why the said Williamson Cox should not have the benefit of the several insolvent laws as prayed. Given under my hand this sixth day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighteen.

Public Sale.

ON the 10th January next, if fair, if not, the next fair day, will be offered at public auction, on the premises, a certain tract or parcel of LAND, situate in the county of Loudoun, near the Gum Spring, and at the intersection of the Little River Turnpike and Centreville Road, near the 26 mile stone, containing 752 acres. And, on the 5th January next, at Mr. Kankey's tavern, in the town of Dumfries, a parcel of LAND, situate in the county of Stafford, within 8 miles of Dumfries, near Chappawamsic meeting house, and adjoining the lands of Major Tolson and others, containing about 250 acres.

Those lands are two third parts of the lands formerly belonging to Robt. Lyle, sen. deceased, in those counties, and divided by commissioners appointed under the authority of court.

It is presumed and wished that all who are inclined to become purchasers, will examine the lands; and, therefore, it becomes unnecessary to be more particular. They will be divided into such portions as may be desired; and the terms of payment will be one third part in hand, and the remainder by equal instalments in one and two years, secured by bond, and bearing interest from the day of sale, with approved security.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward for taking up and delivering to me in Alexandria, or lodging in jail so that I get him again, negro man WILLIAM, who eloped from Washington, D. C. (where he was hired) about 8 weeks ago. William is about 28 or 30 years of age, 5 feet 6 or 7 inches high, tolerably well made, yellow complexion, large mouth, very white teeth, and to the best of my recollection a scar on his right cheek—he is very fond of drink, and when intoxicated is a great reprobate and excessively noisy. His cloathing is not recollected, but as he received his wages before he started it is probable he has furnished himself with a new suit. BENJ. T. FENDALL.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from Lee's Medicine Store, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILL

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly gratifying to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

|---|---|
| Nervous Disorders | Violent cramps in the stomach and back |
| Consumptions | Indigestion |
| Lowness of spirits | Melancholy |
| Loss of appetite | Gout in the stomach |
| Impurity of b'ood | Pains in the limbs |
| Hysteric'l affection | Relaxations, etc. |
| Inward weaknesses and debility | |

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of nature weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.
